

FLTC Sponsored Research and Development Project Wins NEH Digital Humanities Start-up Grant!

A six-member interdisciplinary WSU research group with expertise in language, literature, anthropology and instructional technology has been awarded a National Endowment for the Humanities (NEH) Digital Humanities Start-up Grant for the project entitled, “Ethnic Layers of Detroit: Experiencing Place through Digital Storytelling”. This research group received the award maximum of $60,000 to support 18 months of digital humanities research and development. The members of this group and their areas of expertise are:

1. Sangeetha Gopalakrishnan, Foreign Language Technology Center (Instructional Technology),
2. Alina Klin, Department of Classical and Modern Languages, Literatures and Cultures (Polish)
3. Laura Kline, Department of Classical and Modern Languages, Literatures and Cultures (Russian)
4. Julie Koehler, Department of Classical and Modern Languages, Literatures and Cultures (German)
5. Felecia Lucht, Department of Classical and Modern Languages, Literatures and Cultures (German)
6. Krysta Ryzewski, Department of Anthropology (Anthropology)

The official list of 2014 NEH Grant recipients is here:

<http://www.neh.gov/files/press-release/march2014grantsstatebystate.pdf>